STEP BY STEP: MAKING EMDR EFFECTIVE AND DEVELOPMENTALLY APPROPRIATE FOR CHILDREN AND ADOLESCENTS

This practical two-day advanced seminar will provide step by step strategies that will assist clinicians in following the EMDR principles and procedures while meeting the developmental needs of children and adolescents. Clinicians will learn how to make EMDR treatment successful and effective even with difficult and resistant clients. Case reviews and video clips of sessions will provide a very tangible and concrete experience.

WORKSHOP OBJECTIVES

- Develop case conceptualization skills and treatment plans based on the Adaptive Information Processing model (AIP)
- Develop effective strategies to work with caregivers in all phases
- Identify targets using developmentally appropriate floatback and mapping strategies
- Effectively prepare children and adolescents for EMDR treatment, including resources for stabilization and affect regulation as well as the use of RDI(Resource Development and Installation) and PAT(Positive Affect Tolerance) to strengthen the parent-child bond
- Use "The Skill Building Phase" and EMDR Games to administer the standard EMDR protocol even with difficult children and adolescents
- Work with dissociative symptoms, avoidance and resistance using story-telling and play therapy techniques as well as sand tray strategies within the context of the EMDR protocol
- Use of cognitive interweaves that are more suitable for children and teenagers
